FEATURING KEYNOTE SPEAKER: DR. LAURA JANA
Dr. Laura Jana is a board-certified pediatrician, early educator, health communicator, and nationally acclaimed parenting and children’s book author with a faculty appointment at Penn State University’s Prevention Research Center. Having first gained national recognition working with world-renowned pediatrician, Dr. Benjamin Spock, she has 20+ years of experience working with parents, early educators, news media, academia, government organizations, non-profits and corporations alike.

From her longstanding role as an early literacy advocate and 10-year owner of a 200-student educational child care center to her recent role as Director of Innovation (UNMC College of Public Health) and media spokesperson for the American Academy of Pediatrics, Dr. Jana is dedicated to ensuring that all children grow up with the support and skills they need to succeed in today’s world.

Her most recent books, The Toddler Brain: Nurture the Skills Today That Will Shape Your Child’s Tomorrow and Jumping Into Kindergarten, introduce the fundamentally important concept of QI Skills and convey the powerful role caring responsive adults play in children’s development during their foundational first 5 years.
